There was a discussion and questions about STR's and what was decided about what the process would be. Tom Corcoran explained that the process would be as follows:

- 1. The home occupation applicant (the home occupation application can now be used for STR's, B&B's, and other types of business in the home such as cutting hair and massage) would go to him to see if the situation is allowed.*
- 2. The applicant would fill out a new streamlined application and go before the Planning Board and look at ownership, location, and parking. (The Town and Planning Boards will still need to discuss fees.)*
- 3. Once approved by the Planning Board then the neighbors are notified and there is a public hearing.*

4. The applicant then goes back to the Building Department for an STR Application. The applicant would complete the checklist which should prepare the applicant for a home inspection. One of the items on the checklist is to provide proof that they are registered with the county so the town knows that the proper taxes are being collected. The Building Department would issue a one-year certificate for a $500.00 fee.

The Town Board decided to discuss the fees further and possibly charge by bedroom and also how many applicants they will allow in the town similar to the tow list.

There was a discussion about penalties and how violations could be handled and also if the Board would entertain an STR and B&B on the same property if they met the criteria.
